

Dear Amazon Seller Performance,

I am writing to formally dispute the recent IP complaint (ID: 17635571291) submitted by Nita Gassen of Cannella, LLC, alleging trademark infringement on ASIN B095X8JFSP.

The claim is categorically false, and the removal of my listing constitutes an error that must be corrected.

Summary of Facts:

- The products sold were lawfully acquired, fully authentic, and affixed with Amazon Transparency barcodes. This confirms product authenticity via Amazon's own internal systems.
- I did not use the complainant's trademark Better Bedder in any listing text, images, or backend fields.
- I did not create the listing and have never modified the ASIN content in question.
- Amazon's Detail Page Ownership and Image Restrictions policy permits use of listing content (including trademarks and photos) by any seller offering the same product.

Here are direct quotes from Amazon's own internal policies:

"When a product detail page is created, it becomes a permanent catalog page on Amazon that will remain even if the creator's inventory sells out."

"Additionally, when you add your copyrighted image to a product detail page, you grant Amazon and its affiliates a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free, perpetual, irrevocable right to exercise all rights of publicity over the material."

Legal Basis First Sale Doctrine:

Under U.S. law (First Sale Doctrine, 17 U.S.C. 109), I am legally permitted to resell genuine goods without violating trademark rights, so long as the products are:

- Lawfully acquired
- Unaltered
- Represented accurately

✅ Requested Action

I obtained these items from a major retail chain. The complaint incorrectly asserts that products must be purchased directly from the rights owner. That is not a requirement under U.S. law and is contradicted by Amazon's own policy stance in other cases. Amazon is also able to verify product authenticity through Transparency barcodes affixed to each unit.

Additional sales documentation can be provided upon request, though it should not be necessary. Again — every unit sent to FBA is affixed with a Transparency barcode, which Amazon can independently verify through internal bin checks

Conclusion & Request:

This takedown was filed in bad faith as a strategic attempt to suppress lawful competition — a tactic Amazon has repeatedly rejected as an abuse of the IP enforcement system.

I respectfully request:

1. Immediate removal of this complaint from my Account Health dashboard.
2. Reinstatement of ASIN B095X8JFSP and my offer for ASIN B095X8JFSP.
3. Review of the complainant's filing history for abuse of process, and flag the complainant's account for enforcement abuse.

Sincerely,
Sean Vandenberg
